OVERVIEW

Shape your future

A qualification in civil engineering, drafting, building design or interior design will help you shape the future of Australia's infrastructure. Learn industry-relevant skills to design and construct projects of all shapes and sizes, and develop your creative potential to bring any space to life. Gain practical experience from creating computer-aided drawing, sketching, building mock-ups and interpreting building codes and regulations. Get the competitive edge by advancing your modelling and design skills with Revit Architecture software.
