Cocktail flavours of the world

Don't be bore your friends with the same old canapé ideas, get inspired! TAFE Queensland Brisbane's College of Tourism and Hospitality (COTAH) is giving away a double pass (valued at $270) to one of their Instant Expert Cooking classes on Friday 25 July. Learn to create simple but stylish cocktail hors d'oeuvres at what promises to be an enriching experience for both body and mind!

Learn our chef's secrets for creating the perfect cocktail party food menu, workshop new ideas and discover the best cheats and tips for achieving serious glamour. From grilled polenta with tomato and olive tapenade to peking duck pancakes and prawn tempura nahn jim there are plenty of flavours to keep your taste buds tingling. But that's not all! The class ends with a cocktail party so you can invite a friend to taste your day's creations and relax with a glass of vino.

COTAH's Steven Schumann said the cocktail party foods and flavours class is one of just a series of cooking lessons run by COTAH's professional chefs, as part of Brisbane's inaugural Good Food Month this July.

"Classes are small and hands-on so everyone receives personal attention from our expert chefs," he said.

"The classes are designed to cater for all levels of cooking skill and ability. Not only will you be given some great kitchen tested recipes and cooking techniques but you will also take home a free chef's apron."

To go in the draw, simply [style magazine to advise call to action] on Facebook and submit your details. Entries close 12pm Thursday 24 July 2014. Winners will be announced and notified via phone or email on the same day. Good luck and don't forget to share this comp with your friends and family!

The delectable Cocktail Party Foods and Flavours class will be held in COTAH's professional, state-of-the-art kitchens at TAFE Queensland Brisbane's South Bank location, 66 Ernest Street, College of Tourism and Hospitality, Block C, Level 2, South Bank.
